

James Chambers, AIA, LEED AP

FWC Architects, Inc.
303 Waukegan Avenue
Highwood, Illinois 60040
jim@fwcarchitects.com
847-579-5200x102

The Art and Science of Deep Green Retrofits

Innovation and the imperative of transforming existing building stock

EDUCATION

Purdue University, Ft. Wayne, Indiana, Bachelor of Science, Architectural Engineering Technology 1986. General and Environmental Science coursework, 1973-1986
Indiana University, Ft. Wayne, Indiana, Fine Arts coursework, 1973-1986

CERTIFICATIONS

Licensed architect, Wisconsin and Illinois, 1994 to present
LEED AP (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design-Accredited Professional)

CONFERENCE PRESENTATIONS

2010 Better Building, Better Business Conference, Wisconsin Dells. Green Architecture for Mainstream Suburbia.
2018 EcoFest, Racine, Wisconsin. Green Building and Remodeling

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

1980-1986 Sunbuilders, Inc., Ft. Wayne, Indiana. Passive solar design and sunroom additions
1986-1988 Geo-Sun, Inc. Ft. Wayne, Indiana. Geothermal and Solar Design and Build.
1988-1990 Mathias Jans, Architect. Production and Custom home design
1991-1995 James Hoffman Builders, Mequon, Wisconsin Custom home design and build
1996-2000 James Grant Chambers, Architect, Shorewood, Wisconsin, custom home design
2000-Present FWC Architects, Highwood, Illinois, New single and multifamily home design

COMMUNITY ORGANIZATIONS

Solar Collective Ft. Wayne, Indiana
Root River Council Racine, Wisconsin
Wild Root Market Racine, Wisconsin
Racine Redevelopment Authority

MEMBERSHIPS / AFFILIATIONS

American Institute of Architects
US Green Building Council